

NUMBERS 21:4-9

THE FIERY SERPENTS

- ☞ The fiery serpents were a righteous judgment Elohim brought upon Israel for murmuring and unbelief. Israel had “sharpened their tongues like a serpent” (Ps. 140:3) and “their throat [was] an open sepulcher; with their tongues have...used deceit; the poison of asps [was] under their lips” (Rom. 3:13). All this was directed at Elohim and Moses. They reaped what they had sown. Elohim loosed fiery serpents upon the Israelites to bite and sting to death the unbelieving murmurers.
- ☞ The wilderness Elohim led them through was full of fiery serpents and scorpions (Deut. 8:15), yet this is the only account in the Torah of these creatures ever attacking Israel. YHVH had protected them to this point and just this once he pulled back his hand of providential protection and grace allowing them to experience the due recompense of their sinful actions. How often has our merciful Father withheld the just desserts of our faithless, rebellious and abominable action against him and graciously protected us from the full consequences of our sin? If we fail to hear his soft voice of correction he will deal more harshly with us until our attention is gained (Ps. 32:8-9). All he has to do is withdraw his hand of protection that restrains the judgments we all deserve and the “fiery serpents” will likewise attack us. Ananias and Sapphira are examples of this. Job experienced some of this, as well.
- ☞ Israel complained for lack of food and water. In unbelief they concluded and confessed (literally prophesied upon themselves a curse) that they would die in the wilderness. Elohim gave them the fulfillment of their faithless delusions—serpents to sting them and leave them physiologically in a parched and burning condition. (The poison of these snakes actually leaves the victim burning with a fiery pain in his body and a desperately dry and thirsty condition [See Adam Clarke's Commentary, Vol. 1, p. 684]). This occurred with the quail also. They complained with their mouths and lusted for meat and Elohim gave them so much quail that it “came out of their ears.” Many were struck dead in judgment. What is the lesson of this story? That for which we lust or that which we fear will come upon us, for Elohim allows those very things to rise up, attack us and judge us. Why? So that the false gods of our hearts will be exposed and we will, as a result, see the error of our ways, repent and turn back to obedient faith in the one true Elohim. Few understand this about Elohim, but Scripture reveals this as one of the ways Elohim deals with his people.
- ☞ Israel repented and received salvation from the sting of death by looking upward toward the brass/bronze (bronze representing judgment) serpent on the pole. Of course, no less than Yeshua himself reveals to us that this pictures himself dying on the tree as a sin offering and source of our salvation (John 3:14 and 12:32).
- ☞ Even the Jewish rabbis admit that the serpent did not heal the afflicted Israelites, but looking upward unto heaven granted them salvation and healing. (See Wisdom 16:4-12)
- ☞ Parallels between the bronze serpent and Yeshua:
  - Both the serpent and Messiah were lifted up on a pole.
  - Israel was to look up to the brass serpent to be healed physically; sinners are to look up to Messiah to be saved.
  - YHVH provided salvation from the sting of death from no other source but the serpent. Similarly, there is salvation in no other name but Yeshua (Acts 4:12).
  - Look at bronze serpent and live; look at Messiah and live.
  - Both the serpent and the cross are merely symbols of Elohim's grace and mercy. They simply point one to YHVH in heaven who heals those who believe him and have faith in him.

WHY CELEBRATE THE PASSOVER (PESACH)?

- ☞ The devil is the great red dragon/serpent (Rev. 12:3) whose venom inflames men's sinful passions through his fiery darts aimed at humans (Eph. 6:16). Fiery serpent is the Hebrew word saraph the plural of which is seraphim, which is a type of an angelic, flaming spirit (Heb. 1:7). Though physical snakes bit the Israelites, this is nevertheless a picture of Satan, the fallen angelic being who is now the serpent and enemy of both YHVH and man.
- ☞ Israel went through all these things for our examples (1 Cor. 10:1-12). What they went through and how they reacted to various situations is literally a mirror held up for our benefit for us to see ourselves as we really are so that we will not repeat their mistakes. We owe them a debt of gratitude, for we are able to gain spiritually by their experience. Baruch hashem YHVH!
